

THE KEY TO OUR TRANSMEDIA STORY WORLD

Time is a big feature of the show. To go back in time and see some of the Midnight Sun's past, click on the EVENTS IN from 'Events' section, back track to the last few months of 2014 and explore.

YOU ARE HERE

Slice them finely!
The knife is more than just a tool, more than just a weapon. It's an idea. And ideas can be very dangerous. Jay's blog will show you just how dangerous.

Just who wants the spotlight the most. The clue lies in Della's blogs - towards the end of 2015, perhaps...

So there are hidden treats all across the #SSLazarus story-world. Try looking at some of the old bands that used to play at Midnight Sun in 2013 for a very special cover version of a pop classic. And of course in Jay's blog there are links to his own music as well as to his cover of an 80s hit. Not one to miss out of course Della has kindly shared some of the musical sketches to her show King of Cupid Town

Pay close attention to Jay's text exchanges with his friend Ben, there are clues to his relationships and what he's really after at Midnight Sun.

One of our characters likes the odd glass of vino. Look for details of their 'herstory' hidden behind the signs to Vegas!

Chop! Chop! Chop!
Someone has the hatchet buried in new bar boy's back. For a thinly veiled view - read about the ideas for a new musical of her own.

Love is in the air, but love is seldom what it seems. Jay's persuasions are clearly of a certain 'ilk' as you can see by scrolling through his blog, but it's in the pages of Midnight Sun that you'll learn of deeper heartache from bar owner Daniel

SHOW SECRETS